

Call for Startups in Automotive and Transportation fields

Intesa Sanpaolo is seeking new technology startups in the Automotive and Transportation space for the 2017 edition of its international acceleration platform StartUp Initiative.

Examples of target applications include: technologies for processes efficiency or new business models such as advanced manufacturing solutions, additive manufacturing (3D printing), augmented reality for industrial production, Big Data & Analytics, etc.

Interested startups can apply by submitting a business plan or executive summary of their project via our online application form no later than May 10, 2017. Applications will be reviewed and screened along five key drivers: team and advisors; addressable market; product and development stage; barriers to entry and traction; economics.

Participating startups will go through a training and selection process made available at no charge by key industry players and qualified coaches. The most promising teams will have a chance to pitch their project to a wide audience of financial and corporate investors, significantly improving their fund raising and business development reach.

The program is structured as follows:

- May 27-28 – Boot Camp (Turin): admitted startups will receive two full days of training delivered by Intesa Sanpaolo experienced angel investors from California.
- Jun 13 – Deal Line-Up (Turin): trained startups will pitch to a panel of experts (industry players, investors and researchers), who will provide structured feedback and select the finalists, which will move forward with the program.
- Jul 6 – Investor Arena Meeting (Turin): the startups selected at the Deal Line-Up will have 10 minutes to pitch their project to a broad audience of around a hundred investors, corporations and players of the innovation ecosystem.

We remind you that there is no charge to participate in the program. Selected companies will need to cover their own travel and accommodation.

Do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions!
